Google sign-in is open

20 October 2026

Continue with Google on the sign-in and registration pages. The same email stays on one account.

Rierink now offers Google sign-in to every visitor.

Open the sign-in page or the registration page and choose Continue with Google. Complete the security check first. The button stays inactive until that check succeeds.

An email that already belongs to a Rierink account opens that same account. Orders, invoices, and account credit stay with the email. A Google account whose email is new to the shop creates a new account.

Nothing in the catalog changes. The materials remain for laboratory research by qualified personnel. They are not for human or veterinary use.

The account page includes an optional newsletter. If you accept it, Rierink emails that verified address when a blog post is published and when a catalog quantity is updated on the shelf. Leaving the list is on the same page, and each note also carries a link to stop.

All information and products discussed are for laboratory and research use only. Not for human or veterinary use. Not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease.
